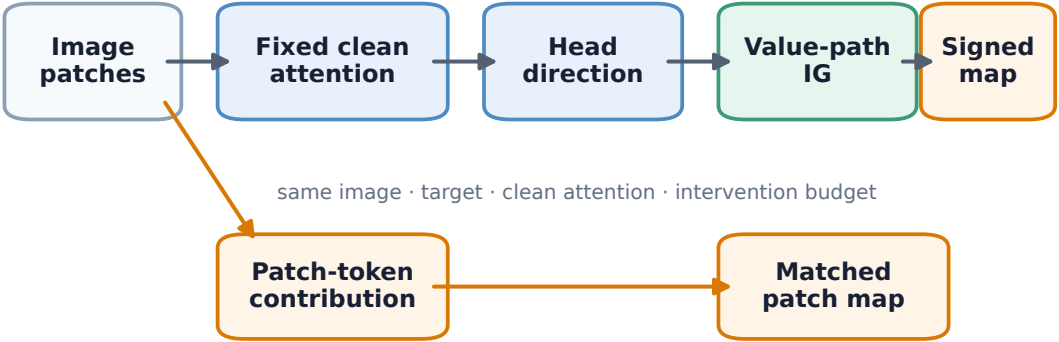
Head-direction Value-path construction



NNS retains signed input-space contributions; the baseline retains patch-token contributions.